BURBANK'S BIG DAY

The Celebration a Great Success

Last Saturday was certainly a red letter day for Burbank; hereafter in our neighboring town everything will date from the day of the barbecue, when the people of the rest of the world took a day off and went to see what sort of a place it was, and to meet some of the people who thought so well of an electric railroad that they paid forty thousand dollars for it, and are satisfied with the bargain. They didn't spend quite as much on the entertainemnt which they gave to their visitors on Saturday, but they certainly economized on nothing that was required to demonstrate their hospitality. The town was gay with streamers, banners and flags. Probably five thousand people partook of the barbecued meat, the good coffee and the other things eatable that went with it. The arrangements for serving the crowd were excellent, and there was little confusion. Concessionaires lined the main street on both sides, and their "barkers," with voices more or less melodious, gave the visitors instructions as to how to get rid of their nickels and dimes. One of the most attractive booths was the one in which was displayed a great variety of Burbank's products, melons, varieties of grapes, fancy poultry, and all sorts of farm and orchard products. Governor Johnson had been advertised to be present, and his name was no doubt a great drawing card, but his excellency failed to materialize. If the crowd wanted to hear a denunciation of the wicked railroad, and laudation of the proposed twenty-three amendments to the constitution, they were not disappointed, for the speechmaking, which began at two o'clock, was all along political lines. Hon. W. D. Stephens, Lee C. Gates and Senator John D. Works were the bright and shining lights who dilated upon the virtues of the referendum, the recall and the twenty-one other reforms that are to be put into the state constitution on October 10, if it doesn't rain.

After the speaking there were horse races, and a fine display of skill at "potato spearing," in which Miss Steelman carried off the honors, the horsemanship of the entire Steelman family, father, daughter and son, being of a kind that evoked enthusiasm on the part of the spectators. On the diamond back of the High School there was an exciting game of base ball between the local team and the "Bloomer Girls," a visiting combination in which were several lady players, who demonstrated a skill in batting and catching the ball which was a revelation to the spectators.

During the first part of the day the railroad company furnished a twenty-minute car service, and handled the crowd with ease, although their service on the Glendale end suffered somewhat. The building of this line means much to Burbank, and much to the fine strip of foothill country between there and Glendale, all of which is now made easily accessible from Los Angeles, and on account of its great natural advantages will ho doubt be thickly populated within a few years.

Glendale certainly did its part in making the day a success, while Tropico, Lankershim, San Fernando and all neighboring sections joined heartily in rejoicing with Burbank over the completion of an enterprise for which it has long been striving.

REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING.

Mr. F. M. Litchfield has bought a lot in the Glen Ina tract as an investment.

Miss McDonald has bought a lot in the Glen Ina tract and will build at once.

Property owners are repairing Brand boulevard between Fourth and Fifth streets, a much needed work, and of great benefit to that section.

Edwards & Wildey, the nterprising real estate firm, are about to commence work on the improvement of their new tract of twenty acres, just west of the West Glendale school. The streets will be graded and oiled, sidewalked and curbed.

The improvement of Sixth street east of Glendale avenue, which has been delayed so tediously by necessary condemnation proceedings, should go forward rapidly now, as the final judgment of the court in that matter is expected this week. As soon as that is received, City Engineer Lynch will proceed to fix the grade and start the required advertising and push the work as rapidly as possible.

The oiling of Fourth street between Glendale avenue and Brand boulevard is to be done in a few days. It was desirable after the leveling off of this street that it settle long enough to show up the low places before the oil was applied.

BAPTISTS SELL AND WILL BUILD.

The Baptist church has sold its building on Third street to the Sanitarium and will start their new church building soon. The plans contemplate a structure which when entirely completed will cost about $20,000, but only a portion of it will be built now, the finishing touches to be put on as needed. Until the new building is ready to occupy the congregation will meet in the old one on its new location, Third and Isabel.

STORM WATER

Small Attendance but Large Discussion—Various Ideas Presented

Notwithstanding the fact that it was well advertised, the meeting of taxpayers called to discuss the storm water question, at the high school last Tuesday evening, was attended by about twenty persons only. The representatives of the people present, however, were wide awake citizens and made up in active speech making what was lacking in numbers. Mr. John Robert White, Jr., presided. Mr. T. E. Stanton presented a statement comprising the history of the agitation up to date. Mr. G. B. Woodberry as a member of the committee on investigation made a good report. An attempt had been made to secure cooperation of the county and the Pacific-Electric Railroad Co. in the matter, but a letter from General Manager McMillan, which was read, makes clear the fact that no such co-operation can be expected, the railway people being only willing to "take care of such storm water as comes to their right of way" only. Mr. McMillan volunteers his opinion however that an effective protection for such streams as the Verdugo wash is afforded by piles driven and barb fence wire anchored to them along the banks. It was thought Messrs. Thom and Ross were willing to co-operate with the city of Glendale and others interested. This co-operation would be Mr. Woodberry's preference, but if impractic able he thought the act of 1895 for the control of such streams in time of storm the best of the three acts set forth in the statutes. He showed intimate knowledge of the situation and was clearly of the opinion that the section of the valley embracing West Glendale, Tropico, Casa Verdugo and Glendale is vitally interested. Mr. Hahn believed that property owners should protect the banks along their holdings by cleaning out the wash. Mr. Fram wanted to see the water saved by a system of spreading as he said had been done in San Antonio canon above Ontario, and made a motion that a committee of five be appointed to investigate. In discussing this question, Mr. Packard, a recent comer to Glendale from Ontario, who seemed thoroughly familiar with the section alluded to, did not think that Ontario had been protected by such work and doubted the feasibility of any such plan here. He was not a believer in the necessity for a large expenditure. Another gentleman expressed the opinion that as property owners along the wash had bought property at reduced rates owning to its proximity to the wash, they should be at the expense of protecting it. Mr. Stanton controverted this opinion, saying that with very few exceptions they had paid full value. He was in favor of cleaning out the channel, being of the opinion that it could easily be made to carry off three times as much water as it now does. He claimed that Messrs. Ross and Thom are not adequately protecting the wash through their property. Mr. Emery favored any plan that was reasonable and was ready to pay his proportion of taxation for the purpose. Mr. Cameron Thom said that Ross and Thom had protected the banks of the wash through their property for thirty years and expected to continue to do so, there is a deep channel there now and it is all right. Mr. Wilhite favored Mr. Fram's proposition and the appointment of the committee to investigate the San Antonio plan. When the vote on the motion was put it carried by a small vote and the chairman appointed a committee of Messrs. Fram, W. C. Wattles, E. M. Lynch, F. L. Muehlman, A. M. Watson.

Mr. Ward of the Glendale laundry called attention to the menace to the valley afforded by the new bridge of the Pacific-Electric on the Burbank extension, which crosses the wash diagonally. Mr. Stanton confirmed this idea and read a copy of a letter of protest which he as president of the Casa Verdugo Association had sent to Manager McMillan when the bridge was started. The meeting adjourned sine die.

CHURCH SOCIAL A SUCCESS.

The social entertainment given by the ladies of the Casa Verdugo M. E. church last Friday evening was a great success. There was an interesting program, after which the Penny bags were opened and the contents found to amount to $49.22. The Ladies' Aid had offered a prize to the person securing the largest amount of the above sum, consisting of an apron, and this went to Mrs. Barnet who paid for it by giving enough to make the sum $50 a check for which was presented to the pastor later.

CITY TRUSTEES

Bid for City Hall Let to Anderson & Murdock—To Investigate Sanitary Conditions and Water Supply

All present except Mr. Watson, who came in at 9:20.

Demands presented and referred. The matter of the Carnegie library came up, and the library commission was instructed to go with Mr. Tuttle, in his capacity as architect, visit various library buildings, and bring in a report and recommendation to the board.

The committee of the whole reported that they had agreed to accept the bid of Anderson & Murdock for construction of a city hall, except as to heating arrangements, at figures heretofore given, $7,047.30. Upon advice of Mr. Tuttle, they decided to re-advertise for bids for putting in the heating apparatus.

The manager of the electric light department appeared before the board in regard to a decrease in rates for power to users on a large scale. This led to a long discussion as to whether the charges should be fixed by ordinance or come up before the trustees for action in special cases. No action taken.

The tax collector reported collections for the week amounting to $95.77.

The city attorney reported having had a report from the health officer to the effect that there are chickens being kept along the Verdugo canyon stream; that he had taken the matter up with the district attorney and the county health officer, who is looking after the case. After discussion, the board agreed to go with the health officer to investigate conditions above the canyon stream Thursday next.

The city attorney made a report on the question referred to him last week about city advertising, to the effect that the city is required by the statutes to enter into such contract at a stated period every year. (To be taken up later.)

A communication was read from the state mining bureau, calling attention to the fact that in construction of public buildings the native products of the state should be used where possible.

A number of communications were received, read and filed.

A petition was received in regard to extension of fire limits, signed by C. M. Lund, C. E. Thom and others. It was referred to the fire and public safety committee.

An application to do street work by private contract, construction of cement sidewalk, was granted John W Henderson.

The proper officials were instructed to enter into a contract with Anderson & Murdock for the construction of the city hall, the same to be constructed within ninety working days.

After discussion, it was decided that the distance from sidewalk to front building line of the new municipal building be thirty-five feet, thirteen feet of which will be taken up by steps.

The matter of city advertising was deferred one week.

An ordinance establishing the grade of a portion of Second street was read first and second times.

A complaint was made against the garbage collector that he had refused to take away garbage when called upon to do so. Referred to police and sanitary commission.

Trustee Williams called attention to the necessity for curbing the speed of automobiles in the city, as the practice of speeding is becoming more of a menace to safety daily. The police and sanitary committee was instructed to devise means to abate the nuisance.

Mr. Watson brought up the matter of the rights of the city in regard to controlling the wash outside of its limits, and as to the city's responsibility should the wash be annexeid. A long dscussion ensued, but no light was shed on the subject.

ASSESSMENT AND TAXES.

City Tax Collector G. B. Hoffman is busy making out tax bills of which there will be about 1500. The regular tax roll foots up $2,016,640, upon which the rate is $1.17, making the tax to be collected $23,594.68 to which will be added the sum of $27.03 received from the general utility companies which under the new law by which the state taxes these corporations for state purposes, only a tax can be collected for their proportion of the bonded indebtedness.

JUST HATS!

Just simply hats! But is there anything more alluring to the feminine mind? One would think not, to judge from the number of visitors Mrs. Charles H. Eudemiller received in her millinery shop during the days of her opening, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of last week.

First, the windows, attractive and artistic in their simple elegance, drew one to the front of the shop; after that it was useless to attempt to resist the magnetism of the beautiful array within its doors.

One of the dearest little hats on exhibit was of king's blue velour in a sugar loaf shape—that is, coming to a sharp peak at the top. On the left front was a handsome pheasant in iridescent colors of greens and blues. A touch of yellow furnished the necessary bit of contrast, and the whole effect was irresistible.

One of the quaintest things in the shop was a child's bonnet, poke shape, in black velvet, faced with pale blue satin, and trimmed with little perky bunches of hand-made forget-me-nots in palest blues and pinks. I don't see how any mother of a six-year-old daughter could resist the temptation.

A stunning hat was a Napoleon shape in king's blue plush, with an unusually handsome aigrette in the same shade of blue perfectly erect in the center of the back. The finishing touch was a hand-made gold ornament. It was an individual and "very different" type.

Then there was a perfect dear, a pale pink beaver, which we will call the Eudemiller shape, as it was originated right there in the shop, and it certainly was a delight to behold; and as for being fortunate enough to wear it—words fail me. As I said, it was a pale pink beaver in the quaintest shape imaginable, and was trimmed with hand-made black velvet poppies with pale blue centers, which were faced with pink satin a shade deeper than the hat. These were placed in a wreath around the crown, and one drooped over the brim, where it was slashed in the back, to rest against the hair. It was just the sort of a hat that you could imagine your great-grandmother wearing when she was eighteen.

Then there was a picture hat, very large, with a low crown and slightly drooping brim. This was of white beaver cloth, ornamented with a great bunch of grapes and foliage shading from palest yellow to brown. Underneath, the brim was faced with black velvet.

One of the richest hats seen was an evening hat in a modification of the sugar-loaf shape. It was of draped Persian gold cloth, and ornamented with a bird of paradise in black and yellow. The brim was completely circled with a hand-made coronet of gold relieved with touches of color in the pastel shades. It was beyond doubt a beautiful creation.

Of course there was the all lavender hat, an Adrian shape. A beautiful shade of violet velvet on top and a darker shade of violet beneath the brim. The sole trimming was an exquisitely shaded ostrich pon-pon which fell gracefully over the crown.

Last, but not least, was the imported hat bearing the name of the designer, Suzanne Tabot, of 14 Rue Royale, Paris. It was of velvet, with a black nap and a prune-colored warp, and was trimmed with velvet pansies shading from prune color to black, while all around the brim was a black fringe about two inches long. It was very Frenchy and foreign appearing, but altogether good-looking.

Besides these few, there were numberless other styles every bit as attractive and artistic as the ones described.

Mrs. Eudemiller has a complete line of untrimmed shapes and hats, with every variety of handsome decoration to be combined to suit the individual taste.

A splendid line of hair goods and toilet articles was exhibited in connection with the beauty parlors.

For her customers a recent innovation is the daintily appointed French fitting room, which meets the approval of many.

Altogether, the millinery shop, in its appointments and well selected stock, is complete and tasteful, an addition to the business community and a boon to the feminine gender in general.

SCHOOL NOTES.

The grammar school trustees expect to receive the bond money this week, delay having been occasioned by the absence of Chairman Pridham of the supervisors. Arrangements have been made with the West Glendale district for exchanging pupils. Pupils from the West Glendale district can secure the benefits of the Domestic Science and Sloyd departments of the intermediate school by paying for material used. All pupils must go to the Fourth street school for sloyd work.

On Wednesday the trustees opened the bids for the purchase of the buildings on the lately acquired property on Third street. On the old Penn house, corner Third and Jackson, the bids ranged from $151 to $300, the latter bid from the Sanitarium being accepted. The other house, Snow's, was sold to Mrs. Troutwein for $100, another bid being for $60.

SIXTH STREET PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION.

One of the most delightful affairs of the season was the reception given by this association to the principal of the school, Miss Ida M. Waite, and her able corps of teachers, on Friday, from three to five in the afternoon.

An unusually large number of mothers were present to extend a cordial greeting to the teahcers at the beginning of the year's work.

The president, Dr. Jessie A. Russell, briefly outlined the work for the coming year, and spoke especially of the gratification to the school patrons in having acquired the advance in educational lines whereby Glendale now has a most efficient supervisor in Prof. J. T. Anderson, who has had years of experience in educational work.

A committee, composed of Mrs. V. Price Brown, Mrs. Frank Hester and Mrs. M. A. Begg, served delicious fruit punch and wafers.

Mrs. Horace Seeley of Lomita was appointed chairman of the membership committee.

The Sixth Street Parent-Teacher Association holds its meetings the second Friday of every month, at three in the afternoon, and all ladies interested are most cordially invited.

A PLEASANT AFTERNOON AT THE HOME OF MRS. ALEXANDER MITCHELL.

About thirty mothers of the West Glendale school responded to invitations sent out by Mrs. Alexander Mitchell, president of the Parent-Teacher association, to be present at an informal afternoon reception at her house in North Glendale on Thursday, September 21st. Mrs. Mitchell, who proved a most charming hostess, had prepared a very interesting program for the afternoon, which consisted of piano solo by Mrs. C. G. Farrow; reading by Mrs. Nanno Woods; a short but very interesting talk by Mrs. Mary H. Gridley; vocal solos by Mrs. Hilliard, and last but no means least enjoyed, a duet by the hostess, Mrs. Mitchell, and daughter, Miss Lorraine Mitchell. Delicious punch and wafers were served during the afternoon and before leaving all present repaired to the gum grove near by, which was arranged in the nature of a camp, and there in a large arbor of palm leaves were treated to a watermelon feast. The mothers left feeling they had spent a very enjoyable afternoon.

REV. MACINTOSH RETURNS.

Rev. R. O. MacIntosh returned Saturday last after a two months' absence, during which time he visited his parents in Ireland. Mr. MacIntosh had a rather strenuous time on his way over, as he landed at Liverpool during the great dock strike and the scenes he witnessed resembled real war. There was much rioting in progress, police and troops were everywhere on the streets and in the harbor rode a man-of-war with guns trained on the city.

OLD SETTLERS PICNIC.

The Old Settlers Picnic will be held at Echo Park tomorrow (Saturday). The principal feature will be the basket luncheon at noon. The officials of the society are: President, J. C. Sherer; secretary, E. D. Goode; executive committee, D. Griswold, Mrs. Mary Ayers, Mrs. L. C. Rice, R. G. Doyle, Mrs. Beyea and B. F. Patterson.

VALLEY VIEW IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION.

There will be a special meeting of this association held this evening at the tent corner of Sixth and Columbus. A discussion of important questions is promised.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE MEETING.

There will be an Equal Suffrage meeting at La Ramada, Casa Verdugo this (Friday) evening. Mr. David Evans and Mrs. W. P. Cunningham are to speak, while there will also be an attractive musical program.

A FRANCHISE RALLY.

All members requested to be present and help us in this last day of the campaign in our society. We aim to plan work for each member.

During Thursday and Friday nights of last week burglars visited houses just outside the Glendale city limits on the former night attempting entrance to a house on Central avenue and on Thursday night being frightened away from a residence on River dale Drive.

Miss Nellie Williams of North Central avenue has become night superintendent at the Angelus Hospital, on the corner of Trinity and East Washington streets, Los Angeles. The Angelus Hospital is one of the most beautiful in appearance and one of the best equipped hospitals on the coast.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Bartlett of Brand boulevard were guests Wednesday of friends in Pomona.

CHAPTER XXV.

THROUGH the dark woods at Forest Lakes there came hurrying from the northern boundary of the estate an active figure, making his way steadily toward the big graystone house. Occasionally in the denser shadows he stopped to listen. He knew that a dozen or so of picked mountaineers had been left on guard, flintlike men, who would much rather shoot first and inquire afterward in these troubled times. He was congratulating himself upon his good fortune in escaping these men when as he rounded the corner of the house two of them stepped forward with leveled guns.

"Throw up your hands! Come in the light!" commanded the one nearest him and flashed the glow of an electric pocket lantern in his direction. "Are you Sumner Rollins?"

"Yes," replied Rollins, relieved, and began to lower his hands.

"Hold up your hands! Wait a minute!"

Rollins instantly raised his hands again, feeling rather ridiculous, while the guard stepped to the door and rang the bell. He had no more than rung it when the door opened and Elsie White stood revealed in the flood of light.

"Come in, Mr. Rollins," she cheerily invited. "I have been waiting for you these three nights."

"Waiting for me!" he exclaimed as he strode up and took both her hands in his own. "I don't see how that could be. I have been trying for a week to get word to you, but could find no way. I knew that with the telegraph control in the hands of Blagg no message was safe. How did you find out that I was coming?"

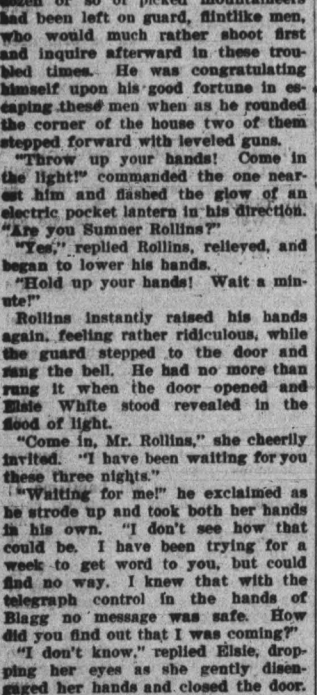

"I don't know," replied Elsie, dropping her eyes as she gently disengaged her hands and closed the door. "I just seemed to know it. You see"—and now she looked up at him frankly—"I knew that you were aware of our danger."

The light of joy leaped into his eyes. Once more he caught at her hands, and she blushed as she drew them behind her.

"They are waiting for you," she said. "I think that the danger is growing very near. There are armed soldiers just about a mile south of the gate."

"I thought I heard a murmur of voices as I came through the woods from the north," said Rollins, puzzled again, "but the sound seemed to come from the east, and it seemed to me, too, that an orderly night march of disciplined men would not betray itself in that way."

Elsie had opened the door of the library, and the tableau that met Rollins' gaze was so startling that he stopped transfixed. Behind the long library table at the far end of the room in a high backed chair sat old Henry Breed, the richly jeweled crown upon his jerkily nodding head, the robe of ermine and carmine upon his emaciated form, the diamond tipped scepter in his hand. At one end of the table sat Jens Nelson and at the other end Dr. Zelphan, peering through his thick spectacles at Rollins and grinning through his bushy red beard, while Mrs. Rensselaer sat aloof in a corner, thinking her own thoughts.

"WELCOME TO OUR COURT!" CACKLED BREED.

"Welcome to our court!" cackled Breed. "Welcome to our court! What plenipotentiary have we here?" and his head nodded so violently that the heavy crown jerked off and fell upon the table.

Dr. Zelphan calmly caught it as it was about to roll to the floor, carefully pushed out a dent that had been made in the soft gold and restored the crown to Breed, who, after many bobbing attempts, placed it again upon his head.

"I shall examine the envoy's credentials and present him to your majesty in due time and form," sonorously announced Zelphan, with an evident enjoyment of the mockery that Rollins, in his shocked abhorrence, could not understand.

"Quite right," agreed Breed. "Quite right. Let all things be done in due form," and, apparently resolved not to interfere with proper observances, Breed drew his old, well worn Bible to him and began to mumble to himself garbled quotations, of which vengeance was the chief burden.

"I am the prime minister," Zelphan stated with burlesque gravity, arising and shaking hands with Rollins. "Our friend Jens, here, is the lord high chamberlain. Mrs. Rensselaer is the first lady in waiting. If you behave yourself, Rollins, we'll make you a duke or an earl or something. Pick out your title—anything you please."

Rollins smiled thinly, but he could not take his eyes nor his mind from the appalling wreck of Henry Breed, the richest man the world had ever known or perhaps ever would know, the man who, starting without a dollar, had in the course of an ordinary lifetime compassed half the wealth of a nation to his own use and through that half controlled the balance of it. And he was come to this end!

Nelson roused Rollins to immediate business.

"What is the news?" he asked abruptly.

Rollins turned to him with relief.

"I have a force of more than fifteen hundred good, solid men who will be here inside of half an hour to protect the vaults. I am quite sure that an attack will be made upon them tonight. I have been collecting my forces for a week against this moment and watching Kelvin through the spy of whom you told me. When they got the Gatlings into the garage today I knew the time was growing very short. We made a forced march tonight, making a straight cut to get here."

"They have Gatlings, you say?" asked Nelson, troubled.

"Fourteen of them from the government arsenal mounted in automobiles. If my men get here in time I want to ambush the expedition from behind the wall and have my sharpshooters puncture their tires and pick off their gunners. Kelvin is to be among them. If we can capture him the whole problem is solved."

"But they have Gatlings," protested Nelson.

"We have ambush and strategy," insisted Rollins confidently. "If only my forces can arrive in time!"

"You have done wonders," said Nelson admiringly. "How have you managed it? I thought we were helpless."

Rollins shrugged his shoulders.

"Kelvin had one enemy he could not throttle, and that was the American press, which, after all, is the stanch foundation upon which our liberty has been founded and upheld. Upon the instant of his proclamation Kelvin had a censor ready to take ostensible charge of every newspaper office in the United States. He might as well have put infants there. In some cases the censors were intimidated, in others they were hoodwinked, in others they were bound and gagged and in some places killed. The eastern newspapers on the very first day issued my call to arms, and, though the telegraph was closed to us, within two days the appeal was being printed in Chicago and St. Louis, spreading farther west every day since the proclamation. In every village and every country settlement men are arming—the sort of men who always respond to the call of patriotism, the sort of men who know when their country and their homes are in danger and who are willing to die to defend them. Nelson, you can't whip men like that!"

Zelphan, whose whole bearing until now had been like the flippancy of an overgrown, mischievous schoolboy, smiled and nodded his head approvingly.

"It is the existence of such men as these followers of yours and yourself, Rollins, that reconciles me to America," he admitted. "I have damned you as a whole more than once as being a race of people who are plunging themselves into nerve bankruptcy; but, after all, there is something in the fundamentals of this country different from any other nation. There is a healthiness in the body politic which, if nature be given a chance, can throw off all its cancers. America needs just some such eruption as this to clear her blood and let the healthy molecules like you and Nelson here get to work. Nelson was fortunate enough to earn the scholarship grade entitling him to be supported by Breed through his college career and conceived himself bound in simple loyalty! Strange, isn't it?"

"I know," nodded Rollins, with a kindly glance at Jens. "Breed gave him to me for my secretary, and he was a spy on all my acts."

"He was more than that," went on the doctor. "He was passed on to Kelvin when Phillip I. became president, and when Jens found that Kelvin actually meant to declare himself emperor, to the exclusion of Breed and everybody else, he set up a system of spies of his own and helped Blagg place the bombs that were intended to blow Kelvin out of his throne! All this, mind you, in spite of the fact that he does not quite approve of everything that has been done by our royal friend back here and that he does not believe any one man should control so much cash."

"Cash!" suddenly broke in the shrill voice of Breed, and the crown bumped from his glistening bald head upon the table in front of him and rolled to the floor. "Cash!" and his wrinkled old face weakened into an expression of desperate intentness. "The greatest force in all the world—the power that can totter thrones and disrupt governments; that can cause wars and support them and end them; that can build cities and devastate them! Cash!" His voice rose in a shrill crescendo, but before its quaverings had ceased there came another sound much more startling—the unmistakable, never to be forgotten "Marseillaise!"

There came a loud cheer, impregnated with the same fury as the song, and then the blows of rails and logs upon the heavy iron gates, a fusillade of shots from the rifles of the guards, screams of agony and answering shots.

"Too late!" groaned Rollins. "It is not Kelvin's army, but Blagg's! God help us!"

A piercing scream, as if it might have been that of a cat in mortal anguish, came from the end of the room where Henry Breed sat alone nodding his head and mumbling and mowing in his pitiful pomp.

"Cash!" he shrilled. "My cash!"

There was a metallic crash and another mad cheer. The gates had given way, and then the mob came pouring in. Rollins, who was unconsciously reaching for his pistol, found his fingers caught in a soft hand and felt a gentle pull. He obeyed the tugging immediately and allowed himself to be led toward the rear of the building.

"This way," Elsie White urged. "I must hide you."

"My men!" he protested. "They should be approaching the grounds by this time, and now I must lead them by a different way."

"Don't go!" she begged of him. "If they see you crossing the open spaces they will chase you and shoot you as they would a wild animal!"

"I cannot help it," he answered calmly. "I must go."

He raced on through to the kitchen hall, but he did not let go of her hand, and now it was he who led. He reached the rear door and threw it open.

"Come!" he said simply.

She looked up at him a moment and then gently stepped out beside him, closing the door after her. He paused for a moment with sudden mastery to gather her in his arms, and for just that moment she laid her head in surrender upon his shoulder. She knew now that her dreams of Kelvin had been but the outcome of a youthful ideal—an ideal which had made her see Phillip through distorted eyes, which had clouded her vision to this sterling love.

"This way," she insisted, "straight back from the house to the garden and around past the kennels. Then we can be under cover all the way."

In the meantime in the library the voice of Jens Nelson, cool and collected, inquired:

"How shall we prepare to die—standing or crouching?"

Dr. Zelphan, standing where he had been, looked swiftly about the room. They two were the only occupants. Two sharp, resounding shots echoed just outside the hall door.

"The guards!" exclaimed Zelphan. "They are still at the door. There is a part of your America, the part that I love. What wonderful material for my book. Come! If we must die let us die crouching," and without waiting he raced up the stairs, heading toward the attic.

Nelson hesitated a moment. Two more shots rang out, followed by howls of hate, and then a fusillade of bullets spattered against the walls, crashed through the glass and imbedded themselves with soft thuds into the heavy woodwork of the doors. Nelson hesitated no longer, but followed the doctor.

Spanish Etiquette.

There is a curious story of how the Duke d'Aosta when king of Spain told a muleteer to whom he was talking to cover himself, the sun being hot, forgetting that by so doing he made the muleteer a grandee. Marshal Prim, to prevent this catastrophe, knocked the man's hat out of his hand, and, according to some, the muleteer had something to do with the assassination that followed a few days afterward.

GLENDALE, CAL., SEPTEMBER 29, 1911

The whole State of California is to be congratulated upon the overthrow of McCarthyism in San Francisco. The Panama-Pacific Exposition is now almost an assured success and the splendid city by the Golden Gate will again come into its own.

That story that comes from Chicago consisting of the confessions of the hired thugs employed to maim and kill non-union printers, is a sorry comment on our twentieth century civilization. If Mr. Gompers wants the people to believe him when he declares that the unions are not responsible for these awful crimes, he should do something to bring the perpetrators to justice, instead of giving encouragement and sympathy to every criminal whose victim is outside of union ranks.

The Tropico Sentinel has us guessing again. Possibly we have assisted the Consolidated Water Company in some mysterious way, but we fear that a bill for services rendered would be repudiated. And we still insist that the idea of Glendale paying a million dollars for water to anybody or anything is a "pipe dream." As for municipal ownership, it is all right when it is all right, as it has been in the case of Glendale's lghting system; possibly it might be equally successful when applied to water, and when it is demonstrated that satisfactory supply and service cannot be had in any other way, we shall support it.

Annexation of a strip of territory to Los Angeles including Annandale, Bairdstown, Belvidere, Hermon, portions of Eagle Rock and Tropico, was rejected Thursday of last week by a vote which in the outside territory was 464 in favor and 249 against. Tropico seems to have favored the move by a vote of 35 to 8, and Eagle Rock by 47 to 11. The heaviest opposition in proportion to their number of votes was in Annandale and Bairdstown. As the petition calling for the election pledged the outside communities to assume a proportion of the bonded indebtedness of Los Angeles in case annexation took place, it put the election on practically a bond basis, requiring a two-thirds affirmative vote to carry. Citizens of Glendale and West Glendale should not confuse this requirement of a two-thirds vote on this annexation proposition with the law in regard to the annexation election of West Glendale to Glendale to be voted on October 14. In the latter case the outside territory will assume none of the present bonded indebtedness of Glendale, and therefore only a bare majority vote is required to bring about annexation.

A reciprocity agreement between two countries in regard to a tariff, is brought about by mutual concessions in which the representatives of each country endeavors naturally to secure an advantage. The opposition in the United States to the reciprocity treaty with Canada was based upon the assumption that it was a bad bargain for the United States and would injure the farmers on this side of the boundary. President Taft upon hearing that the treaty had been rejected by the Canadians, expressed his regret because he hoped to have it demonstrated by actual working application that it would not have injured the farmers of the United States and would have been of benefit to both countries. If the vote of the Canadians meant anything at all, the meaning was that they thought the United States was getting the better bargain. From the other side of the line therefore comes the demonstration, as far as the belief of our neighbors is concerned, that President Taft was right and his opponents at home were wrong.

THE GRAPHIC PROPHESIES.

"Cut this out and file it away for future reference. The big four delegates at large to the Republican national convention from California, next year, will include Hiram Johnson and Francis J. Heney from north of Tehachapi, and Edwin T. Earl and Meyer Lissner from Southern California. The two district delegates from Los Angeles will be John D. Works and Lee C. Gates. Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin for president, and for Hiram Johnson for vice president. The new member of the national committee from this state will be Meyer Lissner."

The above is from the Los Angeles Graphic. It is a good guess. These four gentlemen nominated Mr. Johnson and they will no doubt nominate themselves to the national convention; and as a complacent legislature has arranged that the people of the state shall have nothing to say about the matter, their nomination is equivalent to election. There are at least a few Republicans in California who do not favor Mr. LaFollette as the nominee of their party for president, but under the operations of the law which gives to the delegates elected two years ago, the naming of the delegates to the state convention which will select the national delegates, these voters are practically disfranchised. Great is the "rule of the people."

THE LAST ANNEXATION SCHEME AND THE NEXT.

The last annexation to Los Angeles project has failed. The opposition to it was not great as expressed at the polls, but it was sufficient. It is surprising that the proposition received as much support as it did, for the fact cannot be questioned that annexation meant to the outlying territory an additional burden of taxation in return for advantages not to be received at once, but remotely. There was a strong element of unfairness and inconsistency involved also, for Hollywood and other sections had been taken into the greater city with exemption from the assumption of any part of the bonded indebtedness of Los Angeles, while the last proposition under the new law made the territory to be added responsible for its proportion of this debt. The petition for annexation set forth the willingness of the petitioners to assume this responsibility and as it did this it put the election on the basis of a vote to issue(assume in this case) bonds, therefore requiring a two-thirds affirmative vote to carry it. The next move in the annexation game as announced in the Los Angeles Times is after West Glendale has been annexed to Glendale, for Tropico to annex the strip along the Southern Pacific railroad between the present boundary of Los Angeles and the then boundary of the city of Glendale, making Glendale contiguous to Los Angeles and therefore fit meat for absorption. Before that comes, however, other things are likely to happen and the education of the people will be going on.

THE STORM WATER QUESTION—SOMETHING SHOULD BE DONE.

The small attendance at the meetings called to discuss the storm water proposition and agree on something definite to be done, has demonstrated that it is useless any longer to waste time waiting for the people at large to agree on anything. The situation demands action without further delay as there will be only in all probability about ninety days in which to do the work if protection is to be afforded during the coming winter. We believe that the work necessary to be done at present need not cost more than a few hundred dollars, that one thousand dollars would be ample to assure the water remaining in its channel through any storm that is likely to occur, cloudbursts excepted, against which even a concrete wall would not be insurance. This plan does not contemplate the employment of any engineer, but simply that a gang of men and a few teams under the direction of a man of good common sense and judgment, go to work, clean out the channel, fortify the banks in the most exposed places with barbed wire and brush and leave the rest to Providence. In equity the expense of the work should be borne by every land holder in the valley, near to or remote from the stream, wherever there is a possibility of his suffering injury, and that embraces Tropico, West Glendale, Casa Verdugo and Glendale. But owing to the impracticability of such an equitable adjustment of this without expensive machinery, it seems to develve upon the trustees of the City of Glendale to take the matter up, secure the co-operation of the people having the most direct interest whose property aligns the wash, particularly of Messrs. Ross and Thom, and of the county of Los Angeles, and go ahead. We are satisfied that the taxpayers will support the city officials in the expenditure of a limited sum for this necessary purpose.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE?

Both Sides Presented

GREAT TEMPERANCE LEADER OPPOSES SUFFRAGE.

The son of Francis Murphy does not believe that woman suffrage would further the cause to which his father gave his life.

William J .Murphy, son of the great temperance worker, when questioned as to his views of woman suffrage, and the effect it would have on the temperance question, said:

"I don't know whether it is best for me to express my opinion. My work is non-sectarian and non-political. Many of the people with whom I come in contact are believers in woman suffrage, and I do not wish to give offense to any one. I cherish malice toward none, and charity for all.

"I believe that women now have as many rights as men have and one more. My wife has all that I have and the added right of protection. If she should choose to give that extra right up and step down on a level with men, to do a man's work in the world, then she must expect to be treated exactly like a man, without any special privileges.

"When one man loves one woman and when one woman loves one man, then the angels come from heaven and dwell in the household. Man has a special work in the world and woman has a sepcial work. God made them so, and so they must remain. Mentally and physically they are different. I do not say unequal, I say different.

"I believe the greatest work in the world is the work which is entrusted to mothers. The most beautiful rose bush bears the most beautiful roses, but it is care and protection that makes it so. Children are like roses and the great men who are to revolutionize the world must come from that divine temple, the home.

"The greatest tribute ever paid to woman was the one made by the Moses of America when he stood at Gettysburg, surrounded by thousands of scarred soldiers, and said: 'All that I am I owe to my mother.' That mother never was out in the world. The world did not know her, but God gave her graces that made of her son the best man in the world.

"Legislation will never stop the liquor traffic. That's why woman suffrage is not the instrument that will do away with the evil. Reforms come by education, from the inside, not the outside. The A. B. C. of that education must be taught in the home.

"The root of evil is in the minds of the people, and it is education and not legislation that we need."

It is not my purpose to present in this article, any of the numerous and more familiar arguments in favor of the political equality of women, but to advance an idea the importance of which is not generally recognized.

The very common argument of some, guardedly admitted, or boldly expressed, that woman is incapable of clearly comprehending the fundaments of ethics and civil polity, or in harsher words, that she is intrinsically inferior to man in intellect, is criticized here as having no merit.

The seeming disparity is, however, acknowledged to exist, but I shall attempt to show that it exists purely as a consequence of that very condition that many of these self-styled superiors are now working to perpetuate.

An explanation involves a psychological phenomenon, and it should be said here that the subject of psychology cannot be waved aside as irrelevant and visionary. Its importance is now being justly recognized. It is fast becoming—it now is—a prominent factor to be considered in every problem involving mortal mind.

Any elucidation commensurate with its importance would be out of place as a newspaper item, but a brief statement may be permitetd.

The perpetual insistence on the part of man that "woman's sphere" is precisely what he himself thinks it is, is an evil, profoundly operative as a blight upon legitimate inclination; tending to create, instead of intellectual development, a sense of dependence and incapacity. Its influence is intensified by the bold aspect of legal enactment, itself a product of man's own creating.

Nor is this form of evil operative against woman alone. It is the same kind that makes a great mass of mankind, composed of both sexes, view subserviency as an irrevocably ordained institution.

One of its deplorable and pitiable effects, perceived at the present time, is that shown by those women themselves who lack even that little perception which would dislcose to them the great moral responsibility which it is their part in nature to assume. They can be aroused to a sense of their true selves only by changing their mental and material environment. To effect such a change is the present task of those women with wider apperception, who perceive that a fuller emancipation means the acceleration of human advancement.

Man's feeling of superiority over woman undoubtedly arose, primordially, from the restricted physical activity of woman incident to maternity; and, within all historic time, has been considered a justified prerogative.

When we remove every artificial or man-made debarment erected against woman, as a class, there will gradually but surely disappear from the human race that sense of inequality now so unjustly emphasized. The simile of the clinging vine will then no longer be set forth by man, with a sense of gratification, as pertinently illustrative of woman's inferiority and dependency.

SOMEONE

There is someone who would rather have your picture than any other gift in the world. Just as there are loved ones in your family of whom you have no photograph, but greatly desire one. You owe it to your family—to your friends—to have that photograph taken now. We endeavor to give to each portrait that individuality so necessary to the finished picture—one that is artistic, yet natural.

We all like pictures, especially pictures of our loved ones. Are there loved ones in your family of whom you have no likeness? Induce them to come to the studio now—or write for an appointment.

Who has not wondered how his parents appeared in their childhood days? Think how vividly their life could have been pictured to posterity by photographs, but at that time they did not have the opportunities we possess of obtaining them. Sending every member of the family to our studio every six months is a good habit to acquire—a habit that will be appreciated in after years.

Too many consider the taking of a photograph a task to be shunned. It should not be, as improved apparatus and materials have done away with all the disagreeable features formerly encountered in the studio. Modern photography is simplicity itself, and our studio is a modern studio. It contains every requisite to insure a good portrait. Hours that were formerly consumed in making a photograph have been shortened to a few minutes.

The baby will enjoy having his picture taken in our studio. We have provided every comfort and convenience for mother and child. Years of experience have taught us how to obtain and preserve childlike characteristics in our photographs.

Any dear old people at home? Isn't it your duty to get their picture taken while they are still with you? Impress upon the old folks the fact that having their pictures taken in our studio is a pleasure, and not an inconvenience.

Dark or cloudy days are no hindrance. Stop in at the studio any time, or, better still, make an appointment.

TROPICO

Harry Marple has returned from Uplands, Cal., where he has been staying for the past month.

The renumber of all the homes within the city limits of Tropico has been under way during this week.

Mrs. Reynolds and daughter, Miss Kitty, have left for San Diego, where they will remain for several months.

A pleasant afternoon was given last Friday by Mrs. Charles Turck at her home on Glendale avenue. A number of Tropico society ladies were included in the list of guests present.

A home will soon be started on Laurel street by Miss C. M. Ord and Mrs. C. R. Pierce, ladies who recently arrived in Tropico and have decided to make this place their future home.

Charles Hapgood, who for the past several months has been residing in Idaho Springs, Idaho, is enjoying a visit of several weeks with his mother, Mrs. Delia Hapgood of Tropico avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Rice, who for the past several days have been visiting with their sons, Guy and Jay Rice of Lindsay, Cal., have returned to their home at the corner of Tropico and Central avenues.

Mrs. C. L. Peckham and family, will leave soon for a small town near Butte, Montana, where Mr. Peckham has embarked in the real estate business. We wish Mr. Peckham success in his new venture and the family much joy at their new home.

The Tropico bank reports a wonderful increase in its business for the first year of its existence, which closed the 12th of this month. Its deposits have increased from $6000 to $83,500; the increase in loans is from $6700 to $62,800. Watch 'em grow!

Last Sunday was rally day at the Tropico Presbyterian church. The attendance was quite large. Rev. Hatch preached in the morning from the subject, "The Old-Time Religion," while in the evening the subject was "The Court of Public Opinion."

There was a good turnout at the picnic of the Vizor Lodge, Knights of Pythias, which was held at Griffith Park last Sunday. An elaborate basket luncheon was served at noon and every one present had the time of their life. The committee in charge consisted of Ralph Robinson, W. J. Hibbert, Peter Gabaig, J. A. Stone and George Howe.

The membership of the Presbyterian church is growing to such an extent that the trustees of the church have been requested to investigate the matter of securing additional rooms for the use of the school. Providing the ways and means are forthcoming the trustees have been instructed to proceed with the erection of this needed addition.

The trustees of this city state that there is going to be something doing around this burg in the next few months in the line of street improvements. Now that they have official backing the trustees are going to make the dust fly, and they claim that it will not stop flying before every street in the city has been improved by being graded, oiled, sidewalked and curbed.

On account of the severely sprained ankle, Miss Iva Hunter, who was engaged as teacher at the Tropico grammar school, has been compelled to discontinue her work. It will be remembered that Miss Hunter sprained her ankle several months ago. Miss Cowan of Los Angeles is substituting for Miss Hunter, who expects to soon be able to resume her duties.

TROPICO CLEAN UP DAY.

A Tropico clean-up day will be held Saturday, October 7th. President M. M. Eshelman of the Chamber of Commerce, under whose auspices the clean-up day will be held, was at the last meeting of the chamber, made chairman of the committee on the affair. At a meeting tonight Mr. Eshelman will disclose the names of the members whom he has appointed and work for the clean-up day will be started in earnest. It is known that four other members will be appointed, these members each to take one corner of the city and to supervise the work of cleaning up, while Mr. Eshelman will oversee the entire affair. The entire plans for the occasion will be made public at the meeting of the chamber tonight.

ADVOCATES LOWER WATER RATES.

N. C. Burch, editor of the Tropico Interurban Sentinel, had the following to say through his columns last week in reference to the rates now being charged by the Tropico Water company:

The income of the Tropico Water Company at present rates is about $15,000 a year. Its liabilities in stock andbonds are about $50,000. Its assets much exceed that sum. There is no question as to the ability of the company to very much reduce its rates and improve its service. Its main reservoir should be located at the mouth of the canyon for better pressure. It has 20 inches of canyon water, the cost of which is nothing to the company. Its only expense is the cost of maintenance and distribution. Its present monthly rate is $1.50. There is no reason why it should exceed 75 cents.

WEST GLENDALE

Mr. Nylen and family, formerly of Vermont Square, are now residing in West Glendale, at 1501 Ivy street. Mr. Nylen has recently returned from a very profitable business trip to Arizona.

On Sunday last, Dr. R. F. Wallace and Mr. E. H. Howard, formerly of the Glendale Steam Laundry, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Ed Clay and little son, and Mrs. J. H. Cochran and daughter Virginia, enjoyed a very pleasant auto ride to Venice and Ocean Park.

Mr. C. E. Freeman and family are recent arrivals in West Glendale occupying a cottage on Burchette near Remington avenue. Mr. Freeman who is janitor for the West Glendale school has been confined to his bed for the past week or two, but expects to be around shortly.

Mr. D. Gervais of Ivy street is expecting to erect two more bungalows on Fifth street in the near future for speculation. Mr. Gervais has built several attractive bungalows in the vicinity in the past year or so, all of which he was very fortunate in finding purchasers for in a short time.

The following are a few points regarding the finances of the West Glendale school: Principal's salary, $1080 per year; five teachers, each, $800 per year; two teachers, each $675 per year; janitor, $480 per year; supervisor of music, $240 per year. The teachers were formerly paid at a higher rate for just nine months of school, but it was agreed by all that it would be more beneficial to them to receive a little less salary each month for the entire year, including the months of vacation, consequently the trustees draw the warrants in this manner.

The West Glendale school opened its doors Monday morning to about 245 pupils, and on Tuesday the number was increased to 250, with the expectation of a number more entering through the week. A number of new features have been added to the school this year, which include a Sunset telephone. At a recent conference the trustees of the two districts passed a resolution allowing an even interchange of pupils from one district to the other, without a deposit. A blanket permit has been arranged at the school building to which children wishing to make a change may sign their names, and at the close of the week the trustees will examine the same and affix their signatures. This will save time and trouble for all parties concerned. It is not the intention of the trustees to overdraw scholars on either side, but should it be done in any way, they expect to draw warrants for all those over and above their rightful number, and turn them in to the district in which the pupils belong.

Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. V. Price Brown will preside at the monthly card party held in the Country Club parlors. Sixty guests are expected to be present.
